FRENCH STUDIES

French Studies provides a diverse curriculum encompassing study in language, linguistics, and literature.

The French Studies program is an integral part of the Modern Languages & Literatures Department. It encompasses study in language, linguistics, literature, and culture as well as overlapping fields of knowledge such as philosophy, sociology, history, aesthetics, and Indigenous studies.

We offer language courses in areas such as writing, translation and stylistics, linguistics courses in areas such as phonetics, morphology, syntax and lexicology, and literature courses examining the major movements, periods and genres in the literatures of France, Canada and the Francophone world. All courses encourage students to develop clarity and diversity of thought, intellectual rigour, and method.

This program leads to a Bachelor of Arts degree (3-year, 4-year, or Honours) with a Major in French Studies. Students taking an undergraduate degree in another Major may choose to add a Minor in French Studies as a secondary area of interest. The Department also participates in the Interdepartmental Minor in Comparative Literature.

SAMPLE CAREERS

A command of both of Canada's official languages is a definite asset in obtaining employment in almost every field. Students who graduate with a degree in French Studies can go on to teach or to become translators or interpreters.

Careers in education, administration, government, commerce, publishing, and journalism are among those favoured by French Studies graduates. In addition, speaking one or more languages is beneficial for careers in museums, libraries, travel, tourism, and companies having overseas offices.

SAMPLE COURSES

Elementary French 1 is designed for students with no prior training in French. Basic skills in oral comprehension and expression are emphasized in class and in weekly labs.

Intermediate French 1 is intended for students with a working knowledge of basic French. Skills in reading, writing, speaking and comprehension are further developed through reading activities (e.g. news articles, short stories) and by listening to documentaries and news reports in class and in weekly labs. Writing tasks include reviews and compositions.

English-French Translation is a second-year course that gives students a chance to expand their French grammar and vocabulary, and initiates them to specific written styles in French.

“I had always dreamed of studying abroad in France, and the French Studies program allowed me to realize this dream. As the first student from UWinnipeg to study in Tours in 2016, and as a 20-year old in a foreign country, I never felt like I had to go it alone. The impacts of studying French are far-reaching and will likely stay with me for the rest of my life. This education has allowed me to meaningfully incorporate bilingualism into my day-to-day life despite being an Anglophone.”

REQUIRED HIGH SCHOOL COURSES

You must meet The University of Winnipeg's general admission requirements. No specific courses are required. The University of Winnipeg offers a wide range of French courses to fit all levels of proficiency and language knowledge.

NEW: All students registering for their first French Studies course must take the Online Placement Test. The test results will assist in determining the appropriate first French course to be taken: FREN-1100(3), FREN-1102(3), FREN-1103(3), FREN-1104(3) or FREN-2105(3). Further details on the test are available on the French Studies website: <http://www.uwinnipeg.ca/french-studies/french-placement-test.html>
